Ultimate wally animals!

Hi guys! Here's a cool story we built together:

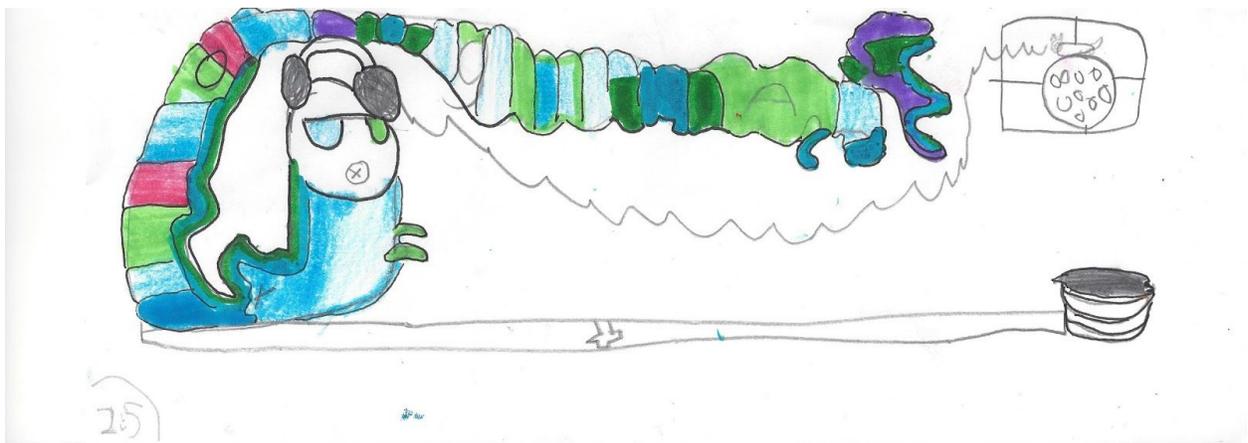

Cool, right? Well, you're probably wondering what's going on. Ha! Well, I'll tell you.

See that red wavy thing? Yeah, it is Wavy, a red panda. He's the first animal in space. The only reason he's saying "oh no!" is that he dropped the microchip he was supposed to put on the moon.

This hedgehog is also on the moon. He sees the red panda! The red panda also sees the hedgehog. Imagine the shock.

Just then, the possum in this picture...

... is talking to the red panda.

And then, the fennec fox is reporting the news. He is saying that the first animal in space is the red panda.

The boy who is watching the breaking news says to himself: "what did you do, wavy? "Because he is the person who owns the red panda.

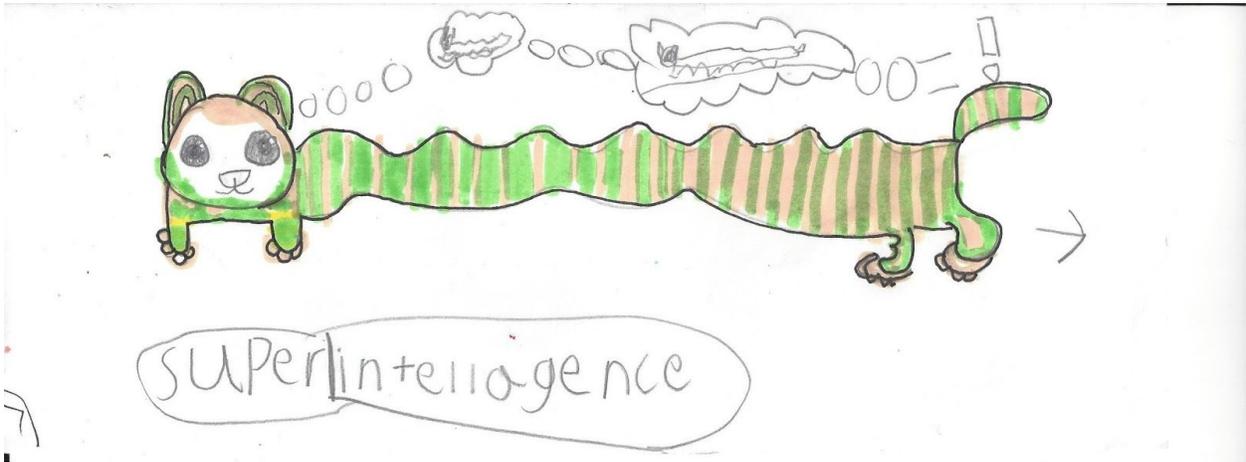

And then, the robot is near the microchip that was dropped by the red panda, and he's picking up the senses.

The koala is also picking up the microchip senses.

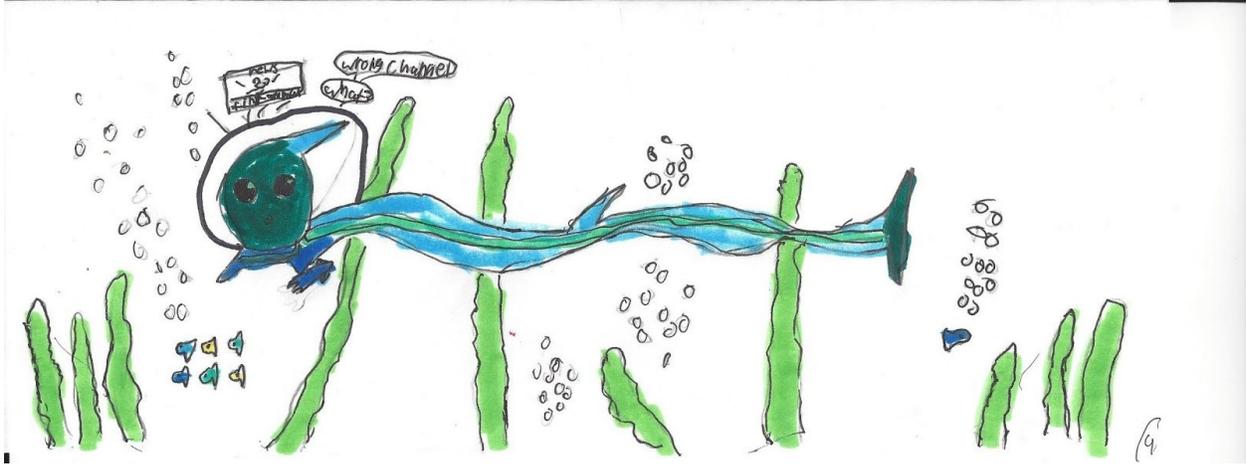

And then, the furret is SUPER intelligent. He knows that there are people on the moon.

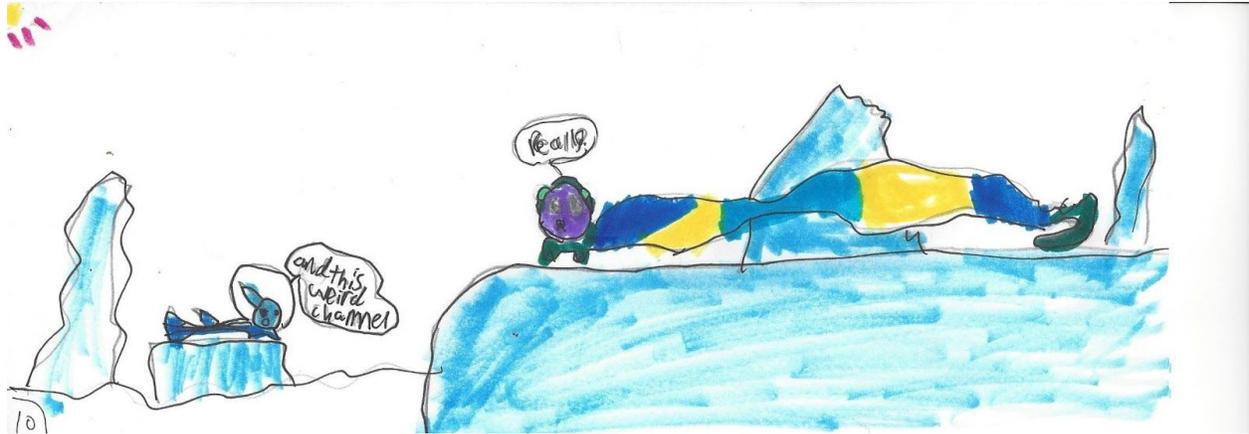

So he dresses up and zooms into space to investigate.

Meanwhile, the fish accidentally switched to the breaking news...

...and he tells his best friend the polar bear all about the news.

So, pretty cool, right!?!?

We loved it, and we hope you enjoyed it. What will happen? Who knows.

The animals will return in part 2...
