Intro

It was another stormy day. Downpour sighed as he watched the rain fall and fall and fall. Sure his name was downpour, but he hated being stuck inside with nothing to do.

Chapter one: Thunder Strikes (Told from Downpour's point of view)

"I'm bored," I say.

It had been raining for 10 days straight, and believe me, it is NOT fun stuck in the orphanage with nothing to do. But I had a secret. Mjolnir was a real thing, and I was able to lift it. Although I wasn't holding it, it was safely tucked away in the vault I had designed myself. It was kept in a secret place, but I can access it all I want. No one can rob it, since no one but me is worthy.

Out of boredom, I thought that it was just gonna be funny if I can just summon Mjolnir and knock everyone out. So I did. I held out my hand and Mjolnir flew into my hand. I smirked. "Let's do this"

I ran up to the bully first, who was picking his nose. The bully was super dumb, so I just threw Mjolnir and it smashed the bully in the head and knocked him cold.

I snatched Mjolnir, sneaked up on the meanest girl and swung Mjolnir to knock her out.

Next, I snuck up to the manager of the school and knocked her out with a quick chuck of Mjolnir. But there was a problem. When I snatched up Mjolnir, it was still flying and it smashed open the window, with me on it! I was flying in the pouring rain. As the lightning struck all around me.
